The article Use of Obscene Language among Youth has an original premise, fits the genre it proposes and is well structured. It is suggested here points of attention to qualify the text.

First, the beginning of the introduction is vaguely constructed, referring to a foundation, but without giving the proper references. Next, the repeated use of the term "profanity" may sound like a term closely linked to the religious universe. Therefore, it is appropriate to make a footnote to clarify that the word is being used as a synonym for "obscenity".

Another point that deserves attention is the methodology, which is too lean, without the details of the literature review, not clearly explaining how it happened.

Therefore, it is appropriate to adapt it.

That said, it is indicated that the text, even if it has quality for publication, is APPROVED with MANDATORY CHANGES to be made, in order to better support the text, thus granting it greater academic importance.
